

Contribution agreement for the Oxford Brookes University publication: Brookes eJournal of Learning and Teaching

The content of the Brookes eJournal of Learning and Teaching is now published under a CC-BY-SA Creative Commons License. This means that others can copy, redistribute and adapt the content for any purpose, as long as they give appropriate credit and indicate any changes that were made. If content is adapted, it must be distributed under this same license. For full details see http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/deed.en_US

Please can you confirm the contents below by printing out, signing and returning a copy of this assignment to the Editor.

I (insert name)
of.....
..... (insert address) have produced the Work titled.....
..... (insert title of article), hereafter called 'the Work', whilst in the employment of
..... (insert employer's name).

I hereby warrant that:

- I am the principal author of the Work and I am the owner of the IPR in the Work, together with any co-authors named in the Work (and I warrant that any such co-authors have consented to this Contribution Agreement).
- This agreement does not infringe the IPR of any third party.
- I am not currently involved in any dispute regarding IPR in the Work.
- The Work has not previously been published
- The Work is not currently under review by any other person or body with a view to publication.
- The Work is an original work.
- The Work is accurate, factually true and does not defame any living person.

I hereby indemnify Oxford Brookes University for any action, claim or damage resulting from any breach of the above warranties.

I have read and understood the terms of this Contribution Agreement.

Signed

.....

on theday of.....20.....

..... (print name)